

We're seeking a simply brilliant volunteer!

Cobalt are on the hunt for a multitasker to help make sure our events are ship shape. The successful candidate must also be willing to step forward and offer their skills free of charge. As well as being armed with some creative flair they will be a stickler for detail and happily get stuck into a variety of tasks.

The role will require someone with a hands-on approach as well as being a people person. Our budgets are small but expectations are high to deliver events that attract good numbers and raise significant quantities of cash. Cobalt deliver up to 10 events a year ranging from open gardens, sponsored walks and runs to an Easter egg trail.

Kirsty Bradbury, Fundraising Engagement Officer, Cobalt said "As part of Volunteers Week this year, we are looking for a really special individual who will happily get stuck into a variety of tasks from setting up and packing down an event to serving coffee and teas or marshalling a busy car park".
